By Paul Slade Smith

Two rookie cops, a crooked mayor, and a hitman with a Scottish accent collide in a small-town motel, and chaos is the only result. What starts as a sting operation to catch the mayor embezzling money spirals into lies, mistaken identities, and frantic escapes. With slamming doors, romantic mix-ups, and one comic disaster after another, Paul Slade Smith's Unnecessary Farce is a fast-paced comedy that keeps audiences on their toes. Clever, physical, and wildly funny, it's a night of theatre where nothing goes according to plan—except the laughs.

Directed by Paul James

UNNECESSARY FARCE is presented by special arrangement with Broadway Licensing, LLC, servicing the Dramatists Play Service collection.

Francis Henshall has a problem: he's hungry, he's broke, and he's just taken jobs with two bosses who must never find out about each other. As he scrambles to juggle his double life, Francis spins a web of lies, disguises, and quick thinking that inevitably unravels in the most hilarious ways. Richard Bean's One Man, Two Guvnors is a modern farce full of slapstick, witty banter, and wild audience interaction. Set in 1960s Brighton and bursting with madcap energy, this award-winning comedy delivers nonstop laughter from start to finish.

By Joe DiPietro

When a quirky family gathers at their ancestral home for a long-overdue reunion, old grudges, hidden secrets, and outrageous personalities bubble to the surface. Then someone turns up dead, and suddenly every relative is a suspect. Joe DiPietro's An Old-Fashioned Family Murder spoofs the classic drawing-room mystery with sharp dialogue, eccentric characters, and hilarious twists. Equal parts comedy and whodunit, it keeps audiences guessing even as they laugh at every revelation. This fast-paced parody proves family drama can be murder—and wildly entertaining.
